Northern Nevada Builders Honored at 11th Annual BANN-ER Awards

Reno, Nev. – The Builders Association of Northern Nevada saluted the local building industry on Saturday night at their 11th Annual BANN-ER Awards. The awards have become the construction industry's acknowledgement of the quality of products offered to the citizens of the Truckee Meadows.

A few of the winners are Best Model Home Complex - HomeCrafters for the Reserve at Monte Rosa, Best website design - Tanamera Commercial for www.tanamera.info and Best Custom Landscaping Design – Bedlan Landscaping. Best Production Home Design awards were given in categories based on square footage and sales price. The winners include Tanamera for The Syrah plan 2, SilverStar for Glen Manor at Telegraph Hill, Tanamera for Sonoma plan 4, D.R. Horton for Caserro Ranch plan 4 and HomeCrafters for the reserve at Monte Rosa Plan 7.

The evening also included the Governor's Energy Awards. Senator Mark Amodei presented the awards to D.R Horton for Esplanade at Damonte Ranch and Caserro Ranch at Wingfield Springs, Sunseri Construction for Silver Sage Senior Residence and Fred Altmann for his own custom home.

The Builders Association Charity added a new category to the awards program this year, the Community Champion Award. Reynen & Bardis earned this recognition for their support of the community and generous donations to local charities. Reynen & Bardis not only provides incredible support to The Builders

Association of Northern Nevada and the Builders Association Charity but also the American Heart Association, the American Cancer Society, UNR, Boys & Girls Club and many more.
